Mrs. John J. Raskob Is Vegas Visitor

11-8-35

Mrs. John J. Raskob of Centerville, Maryland, wife of the national democratic chairman during Al Smith's campaign for president, arrived in Las Vegas yesterday from the northern part of the state to spend several days. She was accompanied by her daughters, Josephine and Niva, and they are stopping at the Apache hotel.

Mrs. Raskob and her party spent today in Boulder City and were shown over the Boulder canyon project by Construction Engineer Ralph Lowry and made a boat trip on the Boulder lake as guests of James Cashman of Las Vegas.