With all the water wasted from sooking into the ground when we get rain.

It would be cheaper & faster then pouring cement. If you can put a V shape culvert overloping end on end starting from Lake Mead to go up each wash.