

Callianne Fisher

Originally from Burns, Oregon, Callianne Fisher is employed at Reclamation through the Student Temporary Employment Program (STEP). She works as an Office Automation Assistant in the Columbia/Snake Salmon Recovery Office. Here are some of her thoughts on participating in STEP:

I found a job posting for the Bureau of Reclamation on Boise State's Bronco Jobs. After working for the Bureau of Land Management, I thought this would be a good fit.

My experience with the Bureau of Reclamation has been very positive. I work with a terrific group of people, and I have had the opportunity to be involved in a variety of projects and activities.

The Bureau of Reclamation has given me the opportunity to get my hands dirty in a lot of different fields. I have assisted staff in creating and implementing a new records management plan. I have been exposed to different aspects of project management, GIS, illustration techniques, biology, geology, and design work.

I fell into this job by chance. While my degree does not necessarily apply to the work I am currently involved in, I have learned a lot of life lessons and gained a valuable amount of experience.

Following graduation with my Bachelors of Social Work, I will continue my education and obtain a Masters in Social Work. I will forever be grateful for the opportunities that the Bureau of Reclamation has given me.
