Dear Project Manager:

The thought of lake mead not having access to boaters is almost unthinkable not only the people that have a personal investment in Recreation for themselves and their family such as having a boat moored at the lake and it being a lifestyle but also to the economic impact and all the money the park generates for tourism boating Etc it generates so much income the money does not even stay at Lake Mead only as you know it also gets distributed to the other parks in Nevada. Closing the lake to boating Recreation slip Mooring Etc would have immediate and long-term repercussions to the entire economy in the Las Vegas Valley. It is hard to believe this is even being suggested as an option or a thought to rectify the situation it would do nothing other than angering a lot of people who have used enjoyed and recreated on Lake Mead for years and still wish to for years to come.

Sincerely,

Joe Currie
