Dear Project Manager:

In recent years, there has been a increase of impact on environmental and socioeconomic damage that has been brought about because of the excessive draining of lakes such as Mead and Powell. This action is a detrimental to generational events, religious practices, and patriotic practices. I fully believe that closing these lakes would have an impact on society that is misunderstood at this time. There are countless people who are invested in the usage of these lakes, both financially and emotionally. Although the need for water is universally understood, there should be a better way to do so than to take away these national treasures. Lake Powell and Mead's closing will have detrimental consequences that we are unprepared for, and with little comparable value. I believe that if we were able to see the full scale of the impact that this decision would have, it would be clearly chosen for us.

Sincerely,

Shawn Murray
