

Truck Driver Hurt On Boulder Project

Jack Sullivan, truck driver for Six Companies Inc, met with an accident of a painful nature late yesterday morning.

According to witnesses of the accident, Sullivan was loading lumber on one of the lumber trucks, when the load slipped and Sullivan "went with the load." The heavy weight caught Sullivan on the left heel, fracturing it painfully.

Sullivan is being treated at the Boulder City hospital for his injury.