

Year Hospital Stay Ends For Kukral

Alvin Kukral was released from the Boulder City hospital yesterday, just one year to a day since he had entered.

Kukral was the most critically injured of the several men who were on the monkey-slike which fell many feet as it traveled the downstream face of Boulder dam. Kukral was impaled upon an iron rod, and concern was felt for several months for his recovery.