

Dam Workers Given Vacation Tomorrow

Over three thousand Boulder dam workmen will be free to celebrate Independence day this year as the bureau of reclamation, Six Companies Inc., the Babcock and Wilcox company, the Boulder City company, and the Eichleay Engineering corporation grant their employes a holiday from their duties.

Many of the large number of employes are journeying to the San Diego exposition, several groups are leaving to spend the vacation period in southern Utah and other neighboring states, and a great percentage will remain at home to celebrate in Boulder City and Las Vegas, a survey this morning showed.
