

Karl Collett Goes To Yosemite Park

Karl Collett, well-known Boulder City man, left today for Yosemite National Park, where he has accepted a job on the O'Shaughnessy dam, part of the Hetch-Hetchy project.

Collett, who recently has been in charge of construction of the highway building work of Six Companies Inc., was formerly dam superintendent on graveyard shift.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Collett and they plan to spend several days in San Francisco before continuing to Yosemite.