

New Mexico Firm Pays Poll Taxes

The New Mexico Construction company, contractors on streets, curbs and gutters in Boulder City, today turned in their check for poll taxes on all employees according to District Attorney Harley A. Harmon, who declared officials of the company said they had no idea of not making this payment.

"We are not interested in any battle over jurisdiction," officials of the company said, "and are perfectly willing, so far as we are concerned, to do whatever is right, which in this instance is payment of the poll taxes assessed by the state of Nevada."
