

Tyrone Power And Bride, Annabelle, See Dam Project

5-26-39
Tyrone Power, one of the "glamorous boys" of the films and his new bride, Annabelle, also of the films, flew to Boulder City today where they were taken over the huge engineering project by representatives of the bureau of reclamation.

Power was flying his own plane and came in from Grand Canyon where the party had been spending several days. The two film stars were accompanied by Marion McKeen, a licensed pilot, who is assisting Power on the honeymoon flight.

The party arrived this morning, shortly before 9 o'clock, and after breakfast in Boulder City, were greeted by Rupert Spearman, of the bureau of reclamation and taken on a tour of the project.

After about two hours on the tour, they boarded their plane again and took off for Los Angeles.