

New Home For Brownson, Bride

Alonzo A. Brownson, civil engineer in the employ of the reclamation bureau on the Hoover dam project, and his bride, to whom he was wedded on Christmas eve, will make their home in one of the new homes built by the government at Boulder City, following a brief honeymoon in Southern California.

Brownson and his bride, who formerly was Miss Hazel V. Haas, of Rapid City, South Dakota, became acquainted while they were attending the South Dakota state college.

The wedding ceremony was conducted by the Reverend C. S. Reynolds at the Methodist parsonage in Las Vegas, on Christmas eve, the couple being attended by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McNeill of Boulder City.

After the wedding the party enjoyed a dinner at the Meadows, the couple leaving then on the honeymoon trip.