Boulder City children will be guests at the biggest "kid party" ever held in Boulder City on the afternoon of next Saturday, day before Christmas, according to plans of the management of Boulder theatre.

Santa Claus has promised to attend and to hand out stockings crammed with candy, nuts, apples and oranges after the show, it is announced.

At 2 p. m. Saturday this special show will commence, all children to be admitted free. A special feature will be shown in addition to comedies and cartoons. The picture will be different from the 11 a. m. and the evening picture.

F. T. Crowe, E. J. Brockman, Harold Anderson and the Boulder City company stores are cooperating in making this party possible.

Even gifts were presented last evening at the theatre, gifts selected by the department store for their appropriateness as Christmas presents. The other presentation, next Friday, will be augmented by giving away of a seven tube G. E. radio, which sells at $49.50, in addition to the other gifts.
