

B and W Workman Dies in Accident

81274
Harris Lange, 31, steel worker for Babcock and Wilcox, was almost instantly killed today when a steel bar swung around and struck him, while he was riding the locomotive crane in the plant, scalping him and throwing him to the floor of the plant.

The bar took the entire top of his head off and crushed his leg, first aid men declaring that death was almost instantaneous.

Lange is survived by a widow in Boulder City. The body is at Parks Mortuary.