

Four Dam Workers Injured Yesterday

825734
William J. Scott, form mover for Six Companies Inc., has an injured ankle and a laceration of the chin, sustained late last night. Details of Scott's accident were not learned.

James O'Neil, who is a hook-tender on graveyard shift for Six Companies Inc., sustained at an early hour this morning a mild concussion. Hospital attaches stated that there was no fracture. How O'Neil received his injury was not learned.

Bill La Shea has a broken left arm, a result of a 30-foot fall early yesterday morning while at work on the powerhouse.

Tom Ryder, a concrete worker, sustained a fractured heel and a fractured wrist when he fell while at work on the dam.