Two minor accidents were reported from the Boulder dam project today, Floyd Steward, truck driver, suffering a fractured right leg and shoulder, and Roy Belcon sustaining head injuries.

Steward jumped from his truck at the lower portal of tunnel four, and landed in a hole, twisting his leg and falling onto his shoulder. The accident occurred at 4:30 this morning and the injured man was rushed to the Boulder City hospital for treatment.

Belcon was hurt when a board fell on his head while he was working on the power houses last evening.
