

Dam Worker Hurt In Fall Off Cable

3-13-34

Clarence Hepner, signal man for Six Companies Inc., was painfully injured last night on graveyard shift when he fell nearly 30 feet from the hook of the government cableway, which he was riding.

The cableway, which at present is engaged in the pouring of the tunnel plugs of diversion tunnel number three, was being loaded with an agitator bucket at the time of the accident.

Hepner is a patient at the Boulder City hospital, suffering from two fractured feet.
