

Sandstorm Ushers Spring at Boulder

---

The first day of spring, yesterday, will be remembered in Boulder City as one of the worst sandstorms ever witnessed in the dam community.

Carried by a strong wind, piles of sand drifted over Boulder City all day, sifting into homes. Signs and trees were endangered for a while yesterday, but no real damage was done as a result of the storm.