

BOULDER LAKE IS RISING SLOWLY

---

Boulder lake is still rising slowly, and on Saturday showed a gain of one-half foot over Friday's report, bureau of reclamation engineers said today.

The Colorado river is running today at the rate of 17,400 cubic feet per second. The lake, according to latest reports, is 85 miles in length. The surface of the lake is at elevation 926.