

Small Cableway at Dam Is Torn Down

9-13-35
Today, Friday the thirteenth, spelled disaster for "Nevada Joe," veteran in the employ of Six Companies Inc., during a major portion of the Boulder Canyon project construction period.

"Nevada Joe McGee," a small cableway located on the Nevada side of Black canyon, "down in the hole," was razed today under the direction of Ted Davis, head of the rigging and cableway departments of Six Companies Inc. The Joe McGee has been used during the building of the powerhouse for the transportation of miscellaneous materials and supplies.
