Construction of Boulder City's first public photo studio and photo supply house has been started by E. G. Barnhill, concessionaire for this line of business in the community.

Excavation was done last week on the lot which Barnhill leased from the government, located on Nevada boulevard, just northeast of Mrs. Ida M. Browder's lunch, in lot five block eighteen.

Barnhill, who comes from St. Petersburg, Florida, has a similar business in that community. With him here is J. C. Russ, who it is understood will have a prominent part in the conducting of the business.

It is expected the structure will be completed in several weeks, the business to be opened as soon as practicable.
