

Bernard Lempe Is Hurt At Dam Job

Bernard Lempe, well - known Boulder City youth, rigger for Six Companies Inc., was painfully but not seriously injured in an accident on the job which occurred yesterday morning.

Lempe, was helping others to right an agitator which had fallen off a truck. An accelerator on the rigging crane, which was being used to lift the agitator, stuck, throwing the boom of the crane high in the air. The operator of the crane was unable to stop the boom before the cable snapped. The relief of the weight of the bucket on the cable was such that the boom of the crane rebounded, striking Lempe.

Lempe is suffering from a badly injured hand, it was learned this morning, but his condition is said not to be serious.
