

Gambling Banned On Reservation

12/30/31

Gambling is a thing of the past on the Hoover dam reservation, according to reclamation bureau officials.

The rule that there shall be no gambling on the reservation will be enforced henceforth, according to orders issued by Construction Engineer Walker R. Young.

The engineer in charge of the project stated that the rule has been in existence before, but had not been rigidly enforced.

Now, however, the appearance of "sharks" and the development of some of the more or less recreational games into that which approached professionalism has forced officials to take action to enforce the rule, Young said.