

BIDS ON BULLSHEAD DAM TO BE CALLED ABOUT JANUARY 15

Bids for the construction of Bullshead dam, on the Colorado river below Boulder dam, will be asked by the government about January 15, according to reclamation bureau officials in Washington.

The bids will be for the construction of the first units of the proposed $24,000,000 structure.

The bids probably will be opened between February 1 and 15 at Denver, Colorado. The bureau has $4,000,000 available for construction during the year that will end next June 30. The project will develop power for war industries and supply supplemental water for irrigated farm lands and possibly for some land to be brought under cultivation.
