

Boulder Flier

Gets Pilot Wings

Lieutenant Albert V. Gallaher, 1323 Colorado street, Boulder City, received his silver pilot's wings in graduation ceremonies of the army air forces central flying training command held October 1 at Randolph Field, Texas. Gallaher received his training at Aloe Field, Victoria, Texas, and was from one of 11 schools participating in the graduation exercises.

A substantial percentage of commissioned officers who had left tactical and administrative assignments to receive flight training were included in the graduates. Lieutenant John D. Whalen, of Fallon, and Lieutenant Gerald L. Schaeffer, of Reno, received their wings in the same ceremony as did Gallaher.