

Gold Strike Is Reported Near Hoover Dam Site

2/5/32

A discovery of gold on the Arizona side of the Colorado near the dam site is reported in the Mohave Miner, Kingman weekly paper.

Ben Bennet was in Kingman recently from the dam reservation, and reported that two prospectors had located claims three miles up the new road from the Cashman ferry, and two miles south.

Work is being done on the veins, and $14 a ton ore is said to have been taken out.

"The discovery of a vein of this magnitude is very important, especially as it will come within the zone of the power development and cut the cost of operation materially, when the power is available through the dam development channels," says the Miner.
