A census of Boulder City is being taken by the city administration, through the agency of the police officers, City Manager Ely revealed yesterday.

The manner of employment as well as of residence is being included in the survey, which will shed light upon the housing problem and which will enable officials to cope with these housing problems to best advantage.

Information concerning those housed on the reservation outside Boulder City also is being gathered.

The movement of families from temporary homes outside Boulder City on the reservation continues rapidly as houses are completed for occupancy.
