

Jackhammer Man Pneumonia Victim

13-22-52
Pasing away at 8:40 last night, James McGinty, 43, jackhammer man for the past month on the Hoover dam project, lost a five day battle against pneumonia, at Boulder hospital.

McGinty left no relations so far as is known, giving the name of Tim O'Gorman of San Francisco to be notified in case of death or accident. O'Gorman is no relation to deceased.

He was single and an ex-service man. He had been in the hospital since December 16.