

General view of Black canyon, looking downstream toward the damsite from the river, near the upstream portals of the Nevada diversion tunnels. The hundred ton electric shovel shown in the picture is used to excavate the rock in the huge fifty-six foot diversion tunnels. The great dam will be located where the cliff line comes against the sky on the left.

