

Car Stripped By Thieves Near Pits

1/25/32
Stripped of tires, battery and all other equipment that was removable, one of Six Companies' touring cars was found late last week near the gravel pits, nearly seven miles upstream from Williamsville.

Stolen from the spot where it had ben parked near the company garage in Boulder City, the car was driven out into the wild country where there is but little travel.

The boldness of this theft of automobile accessories was striking, as was the fact that the stripping of the car took place in a "blind" road, so to speak.

The thieves probably had another automobile and drove out either Vegas wash or the wash by the way of Gyp cave, it is surmised.
