

New Rum Policy at Dam Nets Seven

1110132
A surprise searching of autos entering the Boulder dam reservation in the daytime, netted the federal officers seven suspects today and after they had been taken before United States Commissioner Flowers, three were held and four were given suspended three months sentences.

W. P. Maxwell, was held under $750 bail after he had confessed ownership of a gallon jug of whiskey in his car, while Harry Affleck and Ben Crittenden, who were riding in the machine with Maxwell, were given suspended sentences.

John R. Williams and R. M. Carpenter, were held for further hearing on Saturday, after being charged with possession and transportation as well as destroying evidence.

John Whitehead and Fred Brandt were given suspended sentences on charges of possession and transportation and destroying evidence.
