

RECLAMATION I TO RUM DEALER

3/22/32

A. J. Sanders was arrested at the river camp by reservation officers yesterday on a charge of transporting liquor. His arrest has implicated other dam workers who are being investigated. Sanders was employed as an electrician.

D. Lockheart was also arrested on the reservation by rangers. Both men were taken before Commissioner Folwers and pleaded guilty. Their bonds were set at $350 and $500 respectively.

Four pints of whiskey were found in Sander's car, and the machine was confiscated by the government.

Reclamation officials yesterday issued orders that no man found in possession of whiskey will be permitted to work on the reservation during the construction of the project.
