

WHAT THE REST OF THE WORLD IS DOING

X77
The bid of the Six Companies, Inc., of San Francisco, was accepted Wednesday for building Hoover Dam, power house and appurtenances at the Boulder canyon project. The bid was for $48,890,995. The estimated cost of the entire system will be about $109,000,000 approximately half of which will be supplied by the government on materials. Work must begin within 30 days and the dam must be completed within six and a half years, with a penalty of $3,000 daily for each day longer. The building of this dam is one of the greatest peace time engineering feats ever attempted.