

Dam Workers Get Congratulations

Congratulations to Six Companies Incorporated and reclamation bureau engineers were wired to Walker R. Young, construction engineer in charge of the Boulder Dam project this morning, by Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of the bureau.

The telegram, received just before the first batch of concrete was poured, read as follows:

“Congratulations on rapid and successful completion of preparatory steps to beginning construction of highest dam in the world. Rate of progress made and the ability and energy displayed by both engineers and contractors entitles you to the grateful appreciation of the whole country.”
