

SIX COMPANIES OFFICIALS AT DAM BID OPENING

Representatives of Six Companies, Inc., of San Francisco, a combine of that many engineering firms, who submitted the lowest bid for construction of Hoover Dam when they were opened at Denver, included (upper, left to right) H. J. Kaiser, San Francisco; Frank T. Crowe, Boise, Ida., who will probably be general superintendent of construction; Charles Shea, Portland, Ore.; H. W. Morrison, Boise, and (lower) W. A. Betchel, E. O. Wattis and Felix Kahn, all of San Francisco. Inset: William H. Wattis, Oaden, Utah, president of Six Companies.

Associated Press Photo