

Arthur P. Davis

8/7/33 Engineer, Dies

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 7. (UP) Arthur Powell Davis, 72, the engineer who drew the first plans for Boulder dam, died here today.

Davis was ex-chief of the United States reclamation service, and later general manager of the East Bay Municipal Utilities district here. He built the Mokelumne water system. Last month he accepted the appointment of consulting engineer of the Boulder dam project.