

McCarran To Be

In Vegas In July

United States Senator Pat McCarran will arrive in Las Vegas either July 7 or 8 according to a telegram received this morning from Washington.

Senator McCarran is leaving Washington in a special army airplane and will make his first stop in Nevada at Elko, and will speak in Sparks on July 4 at the Roosevelt jubilee.

He expects to remain in Reno for three or four days, and will then fly to Las Vegas for a short stay, returning immediately to Washington.

"I am making a hurried trip to confer with authorities and representative citizens on public matters essential to the welfare of Nevada in keeping with recent national legislation," McCarran said in his wire.
