

Colorado River Basin Supply/Demand Study

1 message

Fri, Apr 19, 2013 at 4:06 PM

To: ColoradoRiverBasinstudy@usbr.gov

Hello,

I just wished to state my support for the work conducted in the CO River Basin study. Having just learned of this report I was not able to review in detail in time for the comment period, however I am ardently in favor of further conservation studies as proffered by the Water Conservation Initiative (WCI). Being a resident of the Front Range of Colorado I am ever aware of the disparity of population/demand and supply within this state; the Pareto Principle in practice.

I strongly feel that education and awareness is key in addressing climate change impacts upon our freshwater supplies; for far too long water has been taken for granted, out of synch with natural patterns here west of the 100th Meridian. As an example, water features for Las Vegas resorts should become vestige of past foolish practices.

Respectfully submitted,

Bill Peck