

Introducing the New & Improved Recreation.Gov!

As part of President Obama's initiative to fuel the economy and create jobs by promoting travel and tourism, I am pleased to announce a new design, improved navigation tools, and expanded content for Recreation.Gov; the interagency website that guides visitors to 90,000 sites on public lands such as national parks, national wildlife refuges, forests, waterways, and national recreation areas.

Click here to see a short video highlighting all the places you can visit through recreation.gov.

The redesign of www.recreation.gov is an initial step in a multi-year strategy to engage visitors with enhanced interactive content and more multimedia, mobile, and trip-planning tools. The 7 million visitors who use the web site every year will be able to make reservations, see ready-made itineraries for destination cities, and search for activities on interactive maps.

We hope you enjoy planning your next outdoor adventure through Recreation.Gov.