

COAST GUARD AUXILIARY AT NEW MELONES LAKE

Public Affairs Specialist
Fernando Ponce

During the first weekend of June, the Coast Guard Auxiliary (CG Aux) Flotilla 12-91 set up a booth at the Glory Hole Point launch area at New Melones Lake, where they performed vessel safety checks and educated boaters about boating safety as well as inspections for Quagga and Zebra mussels. The CG Aux booth was successful in getting countless boaters to participate with the inspection of their boats. Decals were awarded for vessels that met all standards. The CG Aux are civilian volunteers who train and perform all missions of the Coast Guard except law enforcement. A barbeque was hosted by the CG Aux on Saturday evening and attended by park rangers, camp hosts and law enforcement.
