

Photographers “Capture Composition” While Hiking Along Beautiful Angels Creek Trail at New Melones Lake

On Sunday, Nov. 24, 2013, photographers captured composition along the Angels Creek trail at New Melones Lake. The beautiful fall hike focused on ten ways to compose photographs. Hikers captured images of the natural and cultural resources around New Melones Lake and left only their footprints so that future generations may discover the lake’s beauty for themselves. The 3½-mile interpretive hike also encouraged participants to safely enjoy the outdoors and an active, healthy lifestyle.

