What is Government Contracting – The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has delivered millions of loans, loan guarantees, contracts, counseling sessions and other forms of assistance to small businesses. The SBA recognizes that small businesses are critical to our economic recovery and strength, to building America's future, and to helping the United States compete in today's global marketplace. Is your company a small business? The distinction is important if you wish to compete for government contracting opportunities that are set-aside for small businesses. To be a small business your company must adhere to industry "size standards" established by the SBA. In order to compete for government contracts you must be registered in "SAM.gov".

Types of Set-Asides for Small Business: Expanding opportunities for small business to contract with the Federal government is a priority for Reclamation. Public Law (P.L.) 95-507 was enacted requiring Federal agencies to establish Small Business goals. Later, in 1987 the Small Disadvantaged Business Program (SDB) was established with a statutory goal of 5%. In 1994 the Federal Acquisition Streamlining Act established a statutory goal of 5% for Women-Owned Small Businesses. The Small Business Reauthorization Act of 1997 established a statutory goal of 3% for Historically Underutilized Business Zone (HUBZone) Small Businesses. Then in 1999 the Veteran's Entrepreneurship and Small Business Development Act was enacted and a statutory goal of 3% for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses was established. The Federal government utilizes the Section (8) Program as well, however, no statutory goal was established. When an acquisition is set-aside under any of these Socioeconomic Programs, and in order for your company to compete for these set-asides it must meet the "size standards" established by SBA.
