BUREAU OF RECLAMATION

IN REPLY REFER TO:

84-53000
LND-9.00

NOV 25 2008

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen:

On December 4, 1997, the Bureau of Reclamation issued standards that provided guidance on developing substitute Reclamation Reform Act of 1982 (RRA) certification and reporting forms. These standards provided the necessary general guidance, legal requirements, and conditions for developing, printing, and requesting approval of substitute RRA forms. The standards also ensure the legal requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 and the Privacy Act of 1974 are met.

In order to accommodate newer technologies in both the development and retention of electronic documents that can be used in place of, or as attachments to, standard RRA forms, the December 1997 standards (titled "Reclamation Reform Act of 1982 Certification and Reporting Form Standards") have been revised. The revised standards, (titled "Standards for Substitute RRA Forms and Computer Generated Printouts") are attached, and entirely supersede the previous standards dated December 1997.

The "Reclamation Reform Act of 1982 (RRA) Reference Sources" will be updated accordingly in a future update. If you have questions about the revised standards, please contact the appropriate Reclamation office.

Sincerely,
/s/ ROSEANN GONZALES

PURPOSE

The purpose of these standards is to provide the general requirements and conditions for the development, printing, and approval of forms that are to be filed in lieu of the official RRA certification and reporting forms produced, distributed, and/or provided by the Bureau of Reclamation. All RRA forms, whether or not specifically mentioned herein by title or form number, are covered by these standards.

SCOPE

Reclamation accepts quality replicas of RRA forms that are consistent with the official forms they represent, and that do not have an adverse impact on our processing of the information provided by the landholders and districts. Reclamation's Policy and Program Services office in Denver, Colorado, administers the formal acceptance and processing of the RRA forms in the 17 Western United States. Only those forms that comply fully with the requirements identified in these standards are acceptable.

Forms Covered by These Standards

The forms in Table A are covered by these standards; therefore, replicas of these forms must be submitted to Reclamation for approval.

Forms That Do Not Require Approval

The standards for the forms listed in Table B are less restrictive because the respondent is allowed to use their own similar form in place of these forms or the completion of the form in question is optional. Because of this, forms developed to be filed in lieu of the official RRA forms listed on Table B do not have to be submitted to Reclamation for approval.

Updated Standards

These standards are updated as required to reflect pertinent changes to the RRA forms and to meet processing and/or legislative requirements. These standards entirely supersede the standards dated December 1997.

DEFINITIONS

Acceptable reproduced form is a legible photocopy of an original form.

Computer-generated answer sheet format form is a form that contains the respondent's significant line entries only. This type of form will not be accepted as a substitute for RRA forms.

Computer-generated printout is a form that is entirely designed and printed by the use of a computer printer, such as a laser printer, etc., on plain white paper for use as an attachment to an official RRA form.

Computer-prepared form is a preprinted form in which RRA information has been inserted by a computer, computer printer, or other computer type equipment, such as word processing equipment.

Data entry field means all areas designated on a form for the insertion of data, such as number of acres, land descriptions, check-boxes, etc.

Design means format, arrangement, item caption, line numbers, line references, and sequence.

Format means the overall physical arrangement and general layout of a form.

Graphics means those parts of a printed form that are not entries and not requested information. Generally, these are line numbers, captions, shadings, instructions, special indicators, borders, rules, and strokes created by typesetting, photographics, photocomposition, etc., and do not include ink color.

Item caption means the textual portion of each line on the form, identifying the specific data elements required.

Line reference means a line number, letter, or numeral used to identify each captioned line on the official form; and printed to the immediate left or centered in columns of each caption or data entry field.

Manually-prepared form is a preprinted reproduced form on which information is entered by an individual using pen, pencil, typewriter, or other non-automated equipment.

Printed or preprinted pin-fed form is a printed form that has marginal perforations for use with automated and high-speed printing equipment.

Substitute form is a form that is a replica (mirror image) of the entire official form that is printed and distributed by Reclamation.

Sequence means the same numeral and logical placement order of data, as reflected on the official form version. Sequence is an integral part of the total format requirement.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

The official RRA forms are the exemplar to be followed when preparing substitute forms; therefore, the requirements of the official form for the water year of use needs to be known prior to substitute form development. The physical aspects and requirements for substitute RRA forms are:

Paper and Ink Color

Reclamation prefers that the color of ink and the color and weight of paper substantially duplicate that of the official form(s). However, black ink will be accepted for the text on the forms and paper color will not be an issue as long as it is white or cream.

Page Size

Substitute forms are to be the same size as the official form, 8-1/2 X 11 inches.

Printing Medium

The private printing of all substitute RRA forms must be by conventional printing processes, photocopying, computer printers, computer-graphics, or similar reproduction processes.

Legibility

All forms must have a high standard of legibility, including printing, reproduction, and fill-in matter. Data entry may be no smaller than 8 points.

Reclamation reserves the right to reject substitute forms with poor legibility. The ink and printing method used must ensure that no part of a form (including text, graphics, data entries, etc.) develops “smears” or similar quality deterioration, including any subsequent copies or reproductions made from an approved master substitute form, either during preparation or during Reclamation processing.

Type Font

The RRA forms are printed using “Times Roman” type font for the instructions to the forms and “Ariel” type font for the forms. These are the suggested type fonts to use when composing substitute forms and instructions; however, similar fonts may be used as long as the text and the page layout of the substitute form match, page for page, the official form. Fonts that create cursive style letters (i.e., emulate handwriting) are not to be used on substitute forms.

Print Spacing

Substitute forms must match the spacing of the official forms.

Image Size

The image size of the printed substitute forms must be as close as possible to that of the official form.

Page Orientation

The substitute forms must be printed with the same orientation as the official forms. In other words, if the official form is printed landscape (11 X 8-1/2 inches) on the page, the substitute form must be printed landscape.

Graphics

No change to graphics will be allowed without prior approval.

Likeness to the Official RRA Forms

Substitute forms are required to be replicas (mirror images) of the official RRA forms to which they correspond. Limited continued use of a very minor deviation from the official form approved in one water year may be allowed for the same form in the following water year. Specifically, if Reclamation provides written approval for a specific change on a specific substitute form for a particular water year, such as shading at the end of a line, the same change may be made on the same form the next water year if the item to which the change corresponds is still present on the next water year's official form.

OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET (OMB) REQUIREMENTS FOR ALL SUBSTITUTE FORMS

Legal Requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

Public Law 104-13 requires that:

- OMB approves all Reclamation RRA certification and reporting forms;
- Each RRA form contains (in the upper right corner) the OMB control number; and
- Each RRA form (or its instructions) states why Reclamation needs the information, how it will be used, and whether the information is required to be furnished.

OMB Control Number Requirement

All substitute forms must contain in the upper right corner the OMB control number that is on the official form.

The required formats of the OMB control numbers are: OMB Control No. 1006-0005 (for landholder certification, reporting, and declaration forms and instructions) and OMB Control No. 1006-0006 (for district summary forms, tabulations, and instructions).

Required Explanation to Users of Substitute Forms

Users of substitute forms must be informed of Reclamation use and collection requirements (Paperwork Reduction Act Notice) as stated in Reclamation's instructions to the official RRA forms.

- If substitute instructions are prepared they must include the exact text, including the Paperwork Reduction Act Notice, as the official instructions to the RRA forms.
- If substitute instructions are not prepared for the substitute forms, the user of the substitute forms must be provided a copy of Reclamation's official instructions to the forms. This will meet the requirements stated above.

- If the official or substitute instructions are not provided to users of substitute forms, the exact text of the Paperwork Reduction Act Notice must be furnished on a separate page printed in 8 point or larger type. The notice for the Landholder Certification and Reporting Forms and Instructions reads:

This information is being collected to establish landholder compliance with Federal reclamation law. Response to this request is mandatory in accordance with Public Law 97-293 and 43 CFR 426.18. Public reporting burden for this form is estimated to average _____¹ per response, including time for reviewing instructions, gathering and maintaining data, and completing and reviewing the form. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid Office of Management and Budget (OMB) control number. Direct comments regarding the burden estimated or any other aspect of these forms to Manager, Land Resources Office, Code 84-53000, Bureau of Reclamation, PO Box 25007, Denver CO 80225.

- For district summary forms and instructions use the same statement, except use 40 hours for the estimated average response time.

REQUIREMENTS OF THE PRIVACY ACT

Legal Requirements of the Privacy Act of 1974

In 1985, the Office of the Solicitor determined that RRA forms are subject to the Privacy Act of 1974 (Privacy Act) [43 CFR 426.18(p)]. The Privacy Act requires that:

- Each RRA form that collects landholder information must have the following statement:

¹ Insert the appropriate minutes or hours stated on the official instructions the substitute instructions or form will represent.

This _____² is required by Public Law 97-293. Failure to _____³ can result in prosecution and/or loss of water deliveries from Federal reclamation projects. Information obtained in this _____² is protected by the Privacy Act of 1974, system of records notice INTERIOR/WBR-31, and will be used to administer the acreage limitation provisions of Federal reclamation law. The Secretary of the Interior or the district may require additional information in order to administer these laws. The Secretary may also require a copy of your lease(s).

- If an electronic system is used to maintain completed landholder RRA forms, the electronic files are subject to the Privacy Act and as such must be maintained in accordance with the requirements of the Privacy Act. The following warning must be posted at the front of the electronic system that informs the user that the system contains information covered by the Privacy Act:

PRIVACY ACT RECORDS RESTRICTED ACCESS

Access to the information contained in this database is limited to AUTHORIZED PERSONS ONLY.

Information may not be disclosed from this file unless permitted by the Privacy Act.

These records may not be altered or destroyed except as authorized.
The Privacy Act contains provisions for criminal penalties for knowingly and willfully disclosing information from this file without proper authority.

5 U.S.C. 552a
43 CFR Part 2

REQUIREMENTS FOR ATTESTATION STATEMENTS

The substitute RRA form must include the appropriate attestation statement that is provided on the official RRA form. Landholders and districts must submit hard copies of their certification and/or reporting forms with signatures and dates attesting to the accuracy of the information they are providing on the forms. This is an annual requirement of the RRA.

² Insert "certificate," "report," or "declaration" as appropriate to correspond to the type of form in question (reference the form title).

³ Insert "certify," "report," or "declare" as appropriate to correspond to the type of form in question (reference the form title).

The following statement must be included on the substitute forms before the attestation statements:

Under the provisions of 18 U.S.C. 1001, it is a crime punishable by 5 years imprisonment or a fine of up to $10,000, or both, for any person to knowingly and willfully submit or cause to be submitted to any agency of the United States any false or fraudulent statement(s) as to any matter within the agency's jurisdiction. False statements by the landowner or lessee will also result in loss of eligibility. Eligibility can only be regained upon the approval of the Commissioner.

AGREEMENT FOR SUBSTITUTE FORM DEVELOPERS AND USERS

Anyone developing or using substitute RRA forms will be bound by the following "agreement" and it is the responsibility of the developer to inform prospective users of the substitute form(s) of this "agreement."

Any person or company who uses substitute forms developed under these standards agrees to the following stipulation: Reclamation presumes the substitute forms will be noninterruptive to the processing of RRA forms. Should a substitute RRA form prove to be disruptive to Reclamation during processing of the form the person or company agrees to accept the determination of Reclamation as to whether or not the form may continue to be used during the water year, and also agrees to work with Reclamation in correcting noted deficiencies. Notification of deficiencies may be made by letter, telephone contact, or both and may include the return of unacceptable forms for resubmission.

COMPUTER-GENERATED PRINTOUTS

Computer-generated printouts (printouts) are developed for use as an attachment to an official RRA form. Printouts are designed and completed electronically, then printed using a computer printer, and gather as much information as the corresponding official RRA form (or section thereof). Printouts must be submitted to, and approved by, Reclamation prior to their use as an attachment to an official RRA form. The most common use for printouts is a means for providing lengthy information for particular RRA forms (or sections thereof) that would be cumbersome to manually complete.

Printouts differ from substitute forms and manually-completed forms in the following ways:

- Printouts are not required to be exact replicas of the official RRA forms. However, a printout must contain more than just significant line entries corresponding to the section(s) of the official RRA form (i.e., no printouts in computer-generated answer sheet format).
- Printouts are not computer-prepared forms. Again, printouts are computer-generated for use as attachments to official RRA forms. Printouts are not RRA forms that are completed by using a computer printer to print information onto a hard copy of an RRA form fed through the printer.
- Printouts are not to be used as manually-prepared forms. Reclamation will not accept a computer-prepared “section” of an official RRA form that contains manually-entered information.

Requirements for Printouts

A printout is required to contain enough formatting from the official RRA form to clearly identify the section(s) of the official RRA form to which the printout corresponds.

For example, a legitimate printout can be an attachment to Form 7-21SUMM-C, Tabulation A (DISTRICT SUMMARY OF CERTIFICATION AND DECLARATION FORMS TABULATION A of Individual and Entity Certification Forms [Forms 7-2180, 7-2180EZ, and 7-2181]) that:

- Lists landholders, identifies multidistrict landholders, and lists the various types of acreage held by each landholder (directly owned, directly leased, directly owned excess, directly held full-cost);
- Contains enough formatting from the official Tabulation A to identify to what section, or item numbers, of Tabulation A the printout’s data corresponds (e.g., landholder name, water year, which listed acreages are directly owned, etc.); and
- Identifies to which landholding size the list of landholders corresponds (e.g., “Qualified Recipients 80 through 960, District Category 2”).

A printout must be attached to an official RRA form. The official RRA form to which the printout is attached must contain at least the district name. All sections of the official RRA form that are not detailed by the printout must be completed. Those sections of the official RRA form that are detailed by the printout must contain verbiage such as “see attached printout.” Printouts must not gather information that is not already requested on the official RRA form to which it is attached.

APPROVAL OF SUBSTITUTE FORMS AND PRINTOUTS

Basic Requirements

Landholders and districts who want to file substitute forms and/or printouts must use substitute forms and/or printouts that have been developed under these standards. These substitute forms and printouts, unless excepted by these standards, must be approved by Reclamation before being filed.

Requests for Approval

Reclamation cannot grant final approval of a substitute form or printout until the official form to which it corresponds has been published. Submission of substitute forms or printouts to Reclamation for approval must be based on the appropriate Reclamation procedures detailed below.

What should be submitted in a request for approval?

When specific approval of any substitute form or printout is desired, a sample of the proposed substitute form or printout should be forwarded for consideration by letter. All pages of a multipage form or printout should be submitted in the same package.

Where should a request for approval be submitted?

Requests for approval of substitute forms or printouts should be submitted to:

Bureau of Reclamation
Land Resources Office, 84-53000
P.O. Box 25007
Denver, CO 80225-0007

No Reclamation office except the one specified above is authorized to approve substitute forms and printouts. Unnecessary delay may result if substitute forms and printouts are sent elsewhere for approval, since all forms submitted to any other office must be forwarded to the Land Resources Office for formal control, review, and official approval. No Reclamation office is authorized to allow deviations from this procedure.

When should proposed substitute forms and printouts be submitted for approval?

Proposed substitute forms and printouts which are required to be submitted per these standards should be sent to the address listed above as much in advance of the new water year as possible. This is to allow adequate time for analysis and response which may take up to 30-calendar days.

Accompanying statement

When samples of substitute forms or printouts are submitted, there should be an accompanying statement that lists the official form numbers corresponding to each substitute form submitted, or printout submitted, as applicable. Included with each of the items should be a detailed reason or justification for changes (if any) from the official form and an approximation of the number of forms expected to be filed in the case of a substitute form submittal.

Approval/Non-approval

Reclamation will send either a formal letter of approval or non-approval. Approval letters may contain qualifications for use of the substitute forms or printouts. Non-approval letters may specify the changes required for approval, and may require resubmission for approval.

Substitute Form Approval Number (SFN)

The Land Resources Office will assign a unique SFN to each originator that submits substitute RRA forms for approval. This will be a permanently assigned control number that will be used on every form created by a particular developer.

- This number is to be printed at the bottom left margin area on the first page of every approved substitute form and instructions if the package includes substitute RRA instructions.
- The SFN for substitute forms will consist of three alpha and two numeric characters.

Approved printouts are not assigned an SFN. Reclamation staff monitor whether a printout submittal has Reclamation approval upon receipt.

Duration of Approval

All substitute forms and printouts must have the applicable water year printed on the forms. Approval of substitute forms and printouts and their use will be in effect from January 1 through December 31 of the applicable water year.

NOTE: For early-starting water years, such substitute forms may be completed and submitted in advance of January 1.

If the preprinted year is the only change made to a form described above, the substitute form or printout for the upcoming year is not subject to review, if previously approved. Reclamation will notify substitute form and printout developers if this is the case. Otherwise, any revision to the substitute form or printout requires a new approval.

Requested Copies

Generally, the developer must send Reclamation one copy of each substitute form or printout being submitted for approval. However, if substitute forms or printouts are designed for different computer systems [e.g., Dell (or compatible) vs. MACINTOSH] or different types of printers (laser vs. ink jet), and these forms differ significantly in appearance, one copy for each type of system or printer must be submitted for approval.

Software Publishers

Reclamation does not review or approve the logic of specific software programs, nor confirm any calculations entered on forms output from these programs that are submitted for approval. The accuracy of the program itself remains the responsibility of the software package developer, distributor, and user. The standards are primarily concerned with the prefiling quality review of the final form and printout output, produced by whatever means, that are expected to be processed by Reclamation offices and districts.

Responsibility

Following the receipt of initial approval of a substitute form or printout, or the output of a software program that prints substitute forms or printouts, it is the responsibility of the developer to provide each subsequent client firm or individual with the pertinent RRA requirements which must be met for continuing acceptability. Examples of this responsibility include the use of font size, legibility, the legal requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act Notices for informing all users of substitute forms of the official use and collection requirements stated in the instructions for the official RRA forms, legal requirements of the Privacy Act, completion of documents, etc.

SUBSTITUTE FORMS THAT DO NOT REQUIRE PRIOR APPROVAL

Acceptable Reproduced Forms

The public may photocopy all RRA forms and use them instead of the official ones without prior approval from Reclamation. However, copies of forms must be legible, smear free, and have no potential to smear during processing by Reclamation or the districts.

Forms Scanned From Official RRA Forms

Substitute forms developed by scanning an official RRA form into a computer will be acceptable and does not require prior approval by Reclamation as long as no changes are made to the resulting substitute form.

NOTE: Some scanners have difficulty reading characters such as question marks, dollar signs, etc.; therefore, end products should be reviewed for likeness to the official form.

Forms 7-21CONT-I, 7-21CONT-L, 7-21CONT-O, 7-21SUMM-C Tabulation F, and 7-21SUMM-R Tabulation F

These forms (listed on Table B, page 17) do not require prior approval because landholders are presently allowed to use their own similar form in place of these forms, or the completion of the form in question is optional.

WHERE OFFICIAL RRA FORMS MAY BE OBTAINED

The public may obtain official copies of RRA forms from Reclamation's regional offices⁴ as well as district offices, and from the RRA website at www.usbr.gov/rra. Upon request, copies of the RRA forms will be provided in black ink rather than in colored ink for scanning purposes.

⁴ Reclamation's regional offices that have acreage limitation responsibilities are: Pacific Northwest Regional Office (Boise ID), Mid-Pacific Regional Office (Sacramento CA), Upper Colorado Regional Office (Salt Lake City UT); Great Plains Regional Office (Billings MT).
