Subject: Invitation to January 14, 2010 informational call with Anne Castle
Attachments: Memo to AMWG_Jan14CC.docx

See attached memo from Ms. Anne Castle.

Dear AMWG Colleagues:

On January 14, 2010, I will be holding an informational telephone call to update you on work that the Department of the Interior has been doing with regard to development of Desired Future Conditions (DFCs) for the Glen Canyon Adaptive Management Program. The intent of the call is to provide you with information in order to better inform you about Interior's work on draft DFCs in advance of the upcoming AMWG discussion of this topic at the February 2010 AMWG meeting.

We have continued our efforts over the months since my memo to you of October 1, 2009 to work together within and among the Department of the Interior agencies involved in the AMWG to identify priorities and advance the ball on our Glen Canyon Dam adaptive management activities. The Interior agencies and all of the AMWG stakeholders with whom Deputy Assistant Secretary Deanna Archuleta or I have spoken over the past months agree that the identification of "Desired Future Conditions" is a top priority. While the AMWG has established eleven broadly defined goals for the operation and management of Glen Canyon Dam by the Secretary, those goals have not been reduced to quantifiable targets. We need that additional specificity to enable us to know whether or not we are achieving the stated goals and to measure trends toward success. The adaptive management process will be enhanced if we can more clearly establish our objectives so that management activities can be specifically geared toward accomplishing them.

As many of you know, there have been substantial efforts in the past to describe "Desired Future Conditions," which are intended to embody the objective end results of the narrative goals. The Interior agencies have worked together to provide a draft set of DFCs for consideration by the AMWG. That draft document will be provided in the materials for the Feb. 3-4, 2010 AMWG meeting. We intend to begin the discussion of the DFCs at that meeting, to gain input and recommendations from the AMWG. We will consider your input, and undertake additional analysis as necessary, and will take appropriate action at a subsequent AMWG meeting.

The rules governing Federal Advisory Committee meetings allow for meetings that exclude the normal procedural requirements for FACA meetings, such as notice in the Federal Register, for preparatory or administrative work of the committee. The intent of the January update is to share information with you so you can be more informed prior to the February meeting, but no discussion or deliberations will occur. Given the limited number of AMWG meetings, and consistent with the Federal Advisory Committee Act (43 C.F.R. § 102-3.160), I believe it is important to share important administrative and preparatory information through conference calls, emails and announcements on the Glen Canyon Dam Adaptive Management Program website. I believe this practice of active information sharing leads to meaningful deliberations and recommendations from committees.

Therefore, in order to facilitate our discussion in February, I am scheduling a conference call open to all AMWG participants and the public for January 14, 2010 at 3pm EST (1pm MST, 12 noon PST). The call in number and conference code are: 1-866-733-9699 and PASSCODE: 8446555. I anticipate that the call will conclude at 3:45pm. This is an informal call and not an AMWG meeting; no motions will be allowed or votes taken. Please let Linda Whetton know by Monday, January 11, 2010 if you intend to participate as we need to reserve an appropriate number of lines. Her phone number is 801-524-3880 or EM: lwhetton@usbr.gov

Please know that these efforts continue to be a high priority for me and the Secretary. I will continue to keep you informed about progress on issues related to Glen Canyon Dam.
